

8054
149

Shelf No

8054.149

GIVEN BY

W. G. Preston.
Dec. 6, 1893.

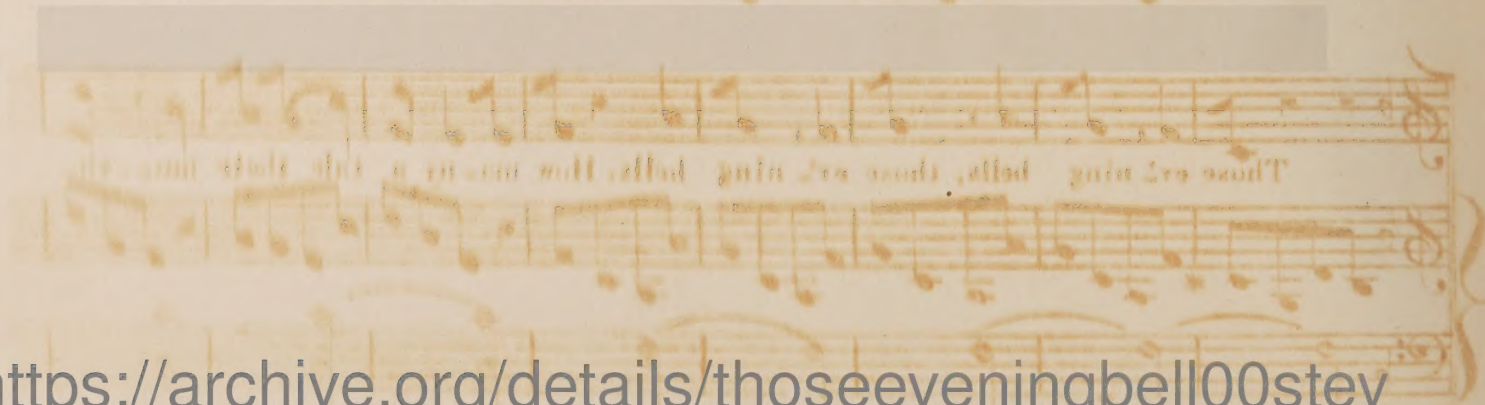

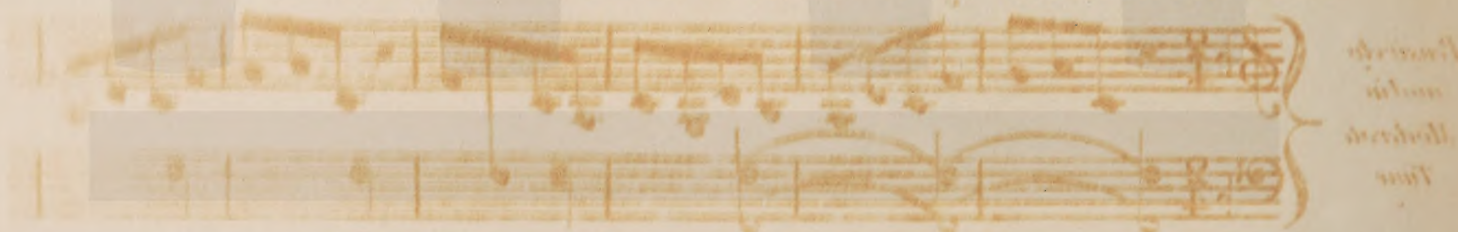

Digitized by the Internet Archive
in 2023 with funding from Boston Public Library

T. MOORE ESQ.

Author of "The Evening Bell" and "The Morning Star"

W. G. Preston
Dec. 6/93

8054.149

Those Evening Bells
A Favorite Air
With Symphony and Accompaniment
By Sir John Stevenson Mus.D.

Written by

T. MOORE ESQ<sup>r</sup>

Public Library
—of the—
City of Boston

Boston. Published by C. & E. W. Jackson, N<sup>o</sup> 64 Market Street.

Pensively
and in Moderate
Time

* It will be perceived that the Air is here made the Accompaniment.

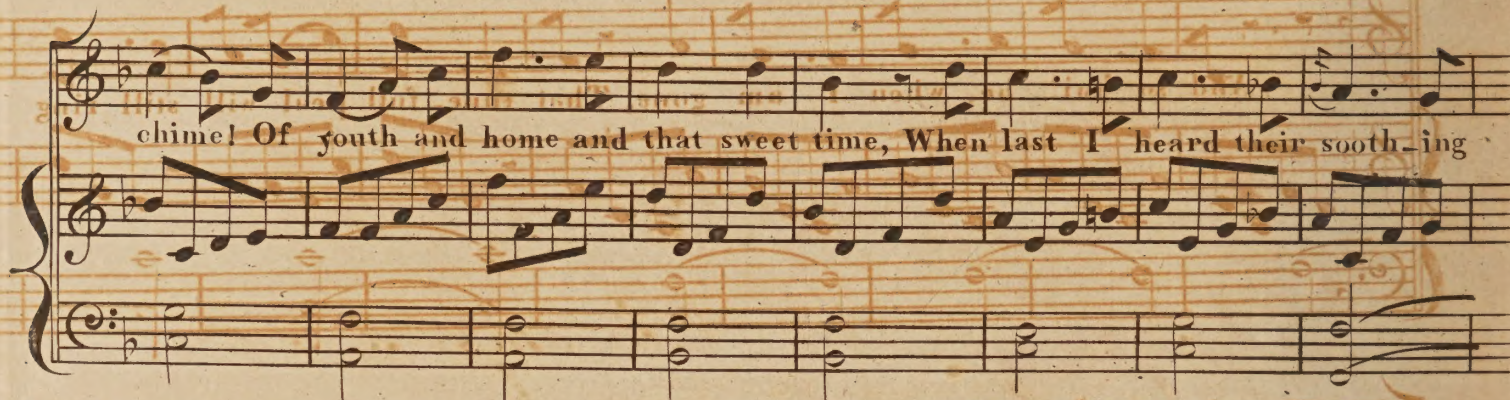

Engraved, and Printed, by S. Wetherbee.

2

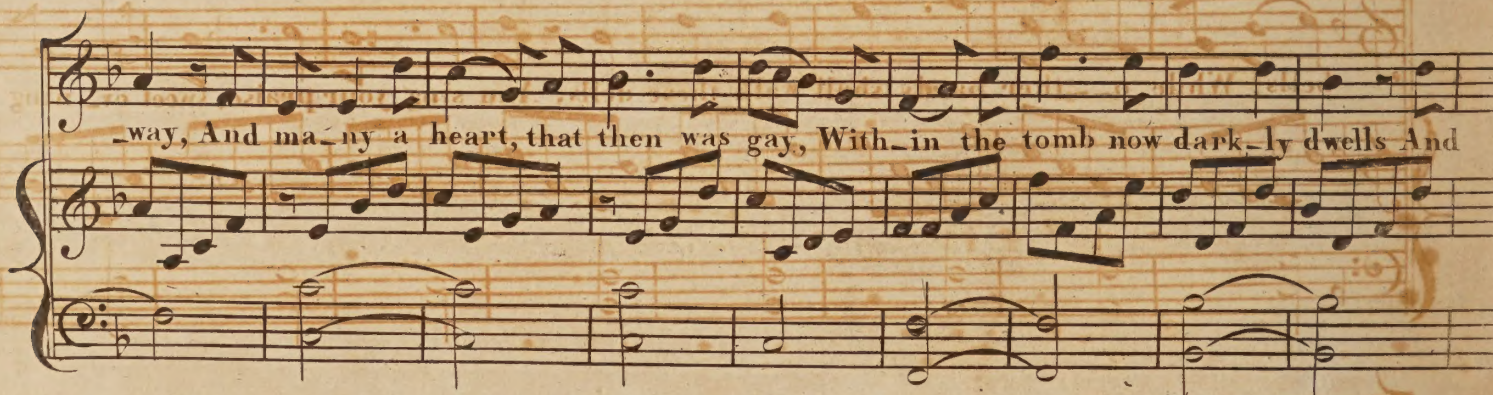

tells Of youth and home and that sweet time, When last I heard their soothing chime! Of youth and home and that sweet time, When last I heard their soothing

2nd. VERSE.

chime! Those joy-ous hours are past away, And ma-ny a heart, that then was gay, With-in the tomb now dark-ly dwells And hears no more those ev-ning bells, With-in the tomb now dark-ly dwells And hears no more those ev'ning bells.

3rd VERSE.

And so 'twill be, when I am gone, That tune-full peal will still ring on, While o - ther bards shall walk these dells, And sing your praise, sweet ev'ning bells! While o - ther bards shall walk these dells, And sing your praise, sweet ev'ning bells!

S for sale very cheap;
 at price, W. J. 409,
 and 220 volts.
 11 to 22.
 W. J. 409, store work; one who is capable of business. Address "D. 408," Herald O.
 TICKET SELLER for first-class
 $350 cash required; $19 weekly. W. J. 409, 178 Washington st.
 UNEMPLOYED MAN wanted.

248 Boylston st., 1 flight.
S.A.P.E.—With steel chest inside, for Gall at 26 Devonshire st.

Walthams. New Mills and from $80 down to $45; '92 and '93 wheels
upward; agents for '95 Orientals. ALBE CYCLERY, 99 Blackstone st.

And on sale of estates in the near Warren st., Roxbury district, on the premises, TUESDAY, March 19, at 3 o'clock
P. M.; also a lot of land on Holborn st., 1
the rear of the above premises: the property
will be sold in one lot, and comprises a frame house with 12 rooms and bath on each

COLLEGE GRADUATE will give instruction in mathematics, mechanical drawing and architectural drawing. "A" license. Salary $1000.00 per annum. Send resume to: THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN, 400 TAPSCOTT BUILDING, ANN ARBOR, MICH.

men seek

...the figures at the ... amount of rainfall or melted snow in inches and hundredths ... hours, isobars, or continuous black lines, pass through ...

...Storm areas, rain, snow, hot and cold waves generally ... east in atmospheric waves. On the map the crests of the ... "high," and the valleys, or depressions, "low." These ... 600 miles per day. The latter are usually preceded or ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The lower temperature will be of short duration, and ... from the average temperature of the season are at present ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

...The area of cloudy, unsettled weather is gradually ... ward, and will probably be followed tonight and Sunday ... weather throughout New England. The lower temperature ...

continue to be vacated numbers, and there possibility that more reported on the Yale cam-

POLICE COURT.

police court, this morning, charged with interesting, had his case day, March 15.

ock, for disturbing the peace, $3. Frank Sherida, the liquor law, was fined

AGREEMENT.

th First-Mediche for The Least Food that Most Nourishment, the

ed age, the old theory —to get as much med- possible time into the even at the expense d, brains, nerves, and life itself—has been as to "dose." If the ndous constitution, he through", if not, which case, that special dis- and more dangerous, as it for its own. All prom- ee on one subject, any- lid the patient up first, and strength, add He's then ready to re- of proper medical treat- tually, that must be in the least quantity, at amount of vitality, and quickly reacts disas- ine food, a muscle, et. Such a food was at last discovered in ly raw food extract— wonderful life-gene- every organ of the engthened by nourish- us to perform its ordi- at once the patient is trict this morning.

SERGT. McDERMOTT ACTING CHIEF.

Mayor Allen of Woburn will not ap- point a permanent chief of police to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Chief McIntosh.

He proposes to look after the affairs of the office, for the present at least, and Sergt. Charles F. McDermott will pose as the acting head of the depart- ment until further orders.

There's no longer any need of any kind of surgery, chafing trusses, which give only partial relief at best, never cure, but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death.

HERNIA (Breach), no matter of how long standing, or of what size, is promptly and permanently cured without the knife and without pain. Another triumph in conservative surgery is the cure of

TUMORS. Ovarian, Fibroid and other varieties, without the peril of cutting operations.

ABSOLUTE PURITY

UBES & INJECTIONS.

SH & CO., T., BOSTON.

NORFOLK PROBATE MATTERS.

Wills Filed in the Registry at Dedham. Let- ters of Administration and so on.

In the Norfolk registry at Dedham for probate:

Charlotte W. Chute, late of Milton; Benjamin F. Robinson, late of Eng- land, N. J.; Royal Norton, late of Wey- mouth; Sarah Dutton, late of Hyde Park; Bridget E. McCormick, late of Stoughton; James H. Smith, late of Needham; George F. Smith, late of Stoughton; Elizabeth T. Willet, late of Hyde Park; Elisha Pratt, late of Wey- mouth; Sophie Gill, late of Holbrook; Warren H. Day, late of Bridgeport, Ct.

Letters of administration are asked on the estates of Harriet C. Kimball, late of Hyde Park; William Burrell, late of Weymouth; James H. Vining, late of Weymouth; Benjamin F. Par- ketts, late of Weymouth; Abigail N. Griggs, late of Dedham; Emma E. Douglas, late of Dover; Nathan Longfel- low, late of Weymouth; Lucy A. Stev- ens, late of Stoughton; Henry Turner, late of Quincy.

EAST BOSTON.

The people of the East Boston dis- trict sincerely wished for the old horse cars back again early Saturday night, when, for some unexplained reason, the electric current left the wires, and sev- eral boat loads of passengers walked to their homes. At times the power was on for a second or two, and the cars would just get started, when the current would slip away again.

The prizes won by the representatives of the East Boston Athletic Association at the games at St. Mary's Athletic Club at the North end have been re- ceived at the gymnasium.

Mr. C. W. Gueth, whose bakery was on fire about a year ago, Saturday eve- ning gave quite an elaborate spread to the "fire laddies" of an engine company 40 and ladder company 2. The banquet at the latter house was spread in the pool room, and was heartily enjoyed. Chief McDonough presided, and the speech of the evening was made by Capt. God- bold. At 4's house Capt. "Harvey" El- liott presided over the table, and all who know him can imagine the good time the boys enjoyed.

The Commissioner Russell, in com- pany with District Chief McDonough, made an informal inspection of the dis- trict this morning.

SERGT. McDERMOTT ACTING CHIEF.

Mayor Allen of Woburn will not ap- point a permanent chief of police to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Chief McIntosh.

He proposes to look after the affairs of the office, for the present at least, and Sergt. Charles F. McDermott will pose as the acting head of the depart- ment until further orders.

There's no longer any need of any kind of surgery, chafing trusses, which give only partial relief at best, never cure, but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death.

HERNIA (Breach), no matter of how long standing, or of what size, is promptly and permanently cured without the knife and without pain. Another triumph in conservative surgery is the cure of

TUMORS. Ovarian, Fibroid and other varieties, without the peril of cutting operations.

WEST ROXBURY DISTRICT.

Mr. A. A. Carlton lectured before a large audience in the Universalist Church, Jamaica Plain, last evening, on "The Church and the Workingmen."

Previous to the lecture, Mr. H. V. Arm- strong entertained the audience with a reading, entitled "The Strike at the Forge."

Members of the Jamaica Cycle Club propose to remodel their rooms to make room for a billiard table. The billiard and pool tables will be placed in the hall, and the reading and card rooms and parlor are to be entirely refurnished.

The Unlaca Athletic Club of Boylston has elected three officers: President, J. I. Bryant, vice president, J. C. ...

NYE, THE DEPOT ROBBER.

Judge Luce Holds Him in $4000 for the Grand Jury on Two Charges.

Harry S. Nye, arrested in Malden, Saturday, was arraigned in the district court at Waltham this morning on a charge of breaking and entering the Bleachery station, Jan. 23. He pleaded not guilty. Several witnesses testified to seeing him around the station, and the court ordered him to furnish $2000 bail for his appearance before the June term of the grand jury.

Nye was the third arraigned on the charge of breaking and entering the Bleachery station, Jan. 23. He pleaded not guilty. Several witnesses testified to seeing him around the station, and the court ordered him to furnish $2000 bail for his appearance before the June term of the grand jury.

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

SENATOR HARVEY, ruled that, as the witness had charged no malfeasance in office against the man, the witness need not give the name to the committee.

Mr. Donnelly asked Mr. Boutwell for an opinion of a remedy for the evil he had described.

Mr. Boutwell declined to give the opinion, saying he would not venture to make any suggestions, without pre- paring himself, it being a practical matter.

Mr. Donnelly—Well, that is what we are here for, business; not sentiment.

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

SENATOR HARVEY, ruled that, as the witness had charged no malfeasance in office against the man, the witness need not give the name to the committee.

Mr. Donnelly asked Mr. Boutwell for an opinion of a remedy for the evil he had described.

Mr. Boutwell declined to give the opinion, saying he would not venture to make any suggestions, without pre- paring himself, it being a practical matter.

Mr. Donnelly—Well, that is what we are here for, business; not sentiment.

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

THERE WAS NO DISTURBANCE.

Students Go Home in Silence, Thanks to the Newton Police.

There is a quiet laugh in Newton po- lice circles at the expense of a crowd of Harvard students. Harvard boys have been causing more or less disorder in Newton during the past few months, and not a few of them have been obliged to appear in the local court with more or less damaged heads, as the result of en- counters with the strong arm of the law.

Accordingly the Newton police depart- ment has been on the lookout for Har- vard students, and proposes to work on the principle that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Last Saturday evening when the heads of the department were informed that a Harvard society, numbering nearly 90, would have an initiation dinner at Au- burndale that evening, they prepared to prevent any possible disturbance in the small hours of the Sabbath.

The company left the hotel at Auburn- dale shortly before 1 o'clock, and stated to march to West Newton, where two special electric cars were in waiting to carry them to Newton, from whence two more specials were to carry them over the West End to Cambridge.

Scarcely had they left the hotel, when they were confronted by a detail of sev- eral police officers, who quietly informed them that no disorder or disturbance would be tolerated. The mile walk from the Woodland Park to West Newton was accordingly accomplished in almost un- broken silence, the officers, mixing in the crowd, and keeping a sharp lookout for any disturbances.

At West Newton the detail was re-en- forced, and as the two specials moved off, the front and back platforms were occupied by a detail of officers in charge of Newton, and at intermediate points, numbers of officers were held in readi- ness to assist in quelling any possible disturbance. At Newton the same strict surveillance was maintained, until the West End cars had carried the students over the Watertown line.

The plan of the police was executed without a break, and its success is a source of considerable congratulation among those concerned.

WEST ROXBURY DISTRICT.

Mr. A. A. Carlton lectured before a large audience in the Universalist Church, Jamaica Plain, last evening, on "The Church and the Workingmen."

Previous to the lecture, Mr. H. V. Arm- strong entertained the audience with a reading, entitled "The Strike at the Forge."

Members of the Jamaica Cycle Club propose to remodel their rooms to make room for a billiard table. The billiard and pool tables will be placed in the hall, and the reading and card rooms and parlor are to be entirely refurnished.

The Unlaca Athletic Club of Boylston has elected three officers: President, J. I. Bryant, vice president, J. C. ...

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

SENATOR HARVEY, ruled that, as the witness had charged no malfeasance in office against the man, the witness need not give the name to the committee.

Mr. Donnelly asked Mr. Boutwell for an opinion of a remedy for the evil he had described.

Mr. Boutwell declined to give the opinion, saying he would not venture to make any suggestions, without pre- paring himself, it being a practical matter.

Mr. Donnelly—Well, that is what we are here for, business; not sentiment.

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

WEST ROXBURY DISTRICT.

Mr. A. A. Carlton lectured before a large audience in the Universalist Church, Jamaica Plain, last evening, on "The Church and the Workingmen."

Previous to the lecture, Mr. H. V. Arm- strong entertained the audience with a reading, entitled "The Strike at the Forge."

Members of the Jamaica Cycle Club propose to remodel their rooms to make room for a billiard table. The billiard and pool tables will be placed in the hall, and the reading and card rooms and parlor are to be entirely refurnished.

The Unlaca Athletic Club of Boylston has elected three officers: President, J. I. Bryant, vice president, J. C. ...

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

SENATOR HARVEY, ruled that, as the witness had charged no malfeasance in office against the man, the witness need not give the name to the committee.

Mr. Donnelly asked Mr. Boutwell for an opinion of a remedy for the evil he had described.

Mr. Boutwell declined to give the opinion, saying he would not venture to make any suggestions, without pre- paring himself, it being a practical matter.

Mr. Donnelly—Well, that is what we are here for, business; not sentiment.

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

WEST ROXBURY DISTRICT.

Mr. A. A. Carlton lectured before a large audience in the Universalist Church, Jamaica Plain, last evening, on "The Church and the Workingmen."

Previous to the lecture, Mr. H. V. Arm- strong entertained the audience with a reading, entitled "The Strike at the Forge."

Members of the Jamaica Cycle Club propose to remodel their rooms to make room for a billiard table. The billiard and pool tables will be placed in the hall, and the reading and card rooms and parlor are to be entirely refurnished.

The Unlaca Athletic Club of Boylston has elected three officers: President, J. I. Bryant, vice president, J. C. ...

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

SENATOR HARVEY, ruled that, as the witness had charged no malfeasance in office against the man, the witness need not give the name to the committee.

Mr. Donnelly asked Mr. Boutwell for an opinion of a remedy for the evil he had described.

Mr. Boutwell declined to give the opinion, saying he would not venture to make any suggestions, without pre- paring himself, it being a practical matter.

Mr. Donnelly—Well, that is what we are here for, business; not sentiment.

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

WEST ROXBURY DISTRICT.

Mr. A. A. Carlton lectured before a large audience in the Universalist Church, Jamaica Plain, last evening, on "The Church and the Workingmen."

Previous to the lecture, Mr. H. V. Arm- strong entertained the audience with a reading, entitled "The Strike at the Forge."

Members of the Jamaica Cycle Club propose to remodel their rooms to make room for a billiard table. The billiard and pool tables will be placed in the hall, and the reading and card rooms and parlor are to be entirely refurnished.

The Unlaca Athletic Club of Boylston has elected three officers: President, J. I. Bryant, vice president, J. C. ...

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

SENATOR HARVEY, ruled that, as the witness had charged no malfeasance in office against the man, the witness need not give the name to the committee.

Mr. Donnelly asked Mr. Boutwell for an opinion of a remedy for the evil he had described.

Mr. Boutwell declined to give the opinion, saying he would not venture to make any suggestions, without pre- paring himself, it being a practical matter.

Mr. Donnelly—Well, that is what we are here for, business; not sentiment.

Mr. Boutwell cited an instance of a disreputable woman recovering the cus- tody of her child after he had been committed to the care of the state board by the guardian appointed by the court.

The chairman observed that as the case was one which might occur under any system the committee did not care to hear it.

When Mr. Donnelly had completed his examination of Mr. Boutwell, a woman, giving the name of Mrs. Annie Wil- liams O'Leary, enlivened the proceed- ings by calling Mr. Boutwell the harsh- est of names, and asking him what he had done with her adopted child.

The chairman could see no relation to the matter in hand in what Mrs. O'Leary was saying, so informed her she could not be heard.

Mrs. Glendower Evans was the last witness for the petitioners today. She had scarcely opened her remarks when the hour for adjournment arrived; so she will resume tomorrow.

Mrs. Evans first considered the finan- cial aspect of the new bill, and said even under that head the new system would be greatly more profitable to the state than the old.

She quoted liberally from the respec- tive reports of the state board of lunacy and charity and the board of trus- tees.

As the petitioners will require another hour to fully present their case, the hearing was adjourned to tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

pages, 2 cents.
pages, 3 cents.
pages, 3 cents.
pages, 4 cents.

ices, 1406 G Street, N.W.

not responsible for the prescription sent without solicitation

LOBBY FUND.

of the Distilling and Cattany, popularly known trust contain an item lobby expenses. Either from some very extensive the old managers of
also it is a revelation of unquestion that seems to call attention. From this and the accounts of the committee that the reorganization is too soon for both the welfare.

THE PASTORAL.

on the bishops' pastoral mess is as nothing to the
it is beginning to responds of the Episcopal of the bishops. Bishop right and left by men for his remarkable which he gave away
a pastoral and assigned importance of being the opinions of half a
This statement de-
at of the august mean-have attempted to find

AND THE BAR.
of the Suffolk bar
loar attested the high
he was held by his
men. He was some-
a certain stubborn-
but this trait appears
anted one of his vir-
s, who recognized in
and independence.

because of this trait
he failed to reach
position in the state-
was with character-
Mr. Pillsbury added
ment will never reach
down by sycophants

LECTURE.

f the rector of Trin-
y evening as the
the of the season is t importance. It is as we know, that nity has been thus otable that in the service in this city
appeared on this
not have been the
would have shone,
y better prepared
for this ordeal.

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

5600 acres and quays having more than three miles in length. In 1880 the total movement of tonnage at this port was 1,651,000 tons; in 1891 it was 3,177,000 tons.

At Havre the engineers of the French government have been at work for nearly eight years preparing an extensive system of improvements by which a new entrance might be made to the port, a new water front prepared, a lock built capable of lifting the vessels during at least half of the tide, and giving access to the outer harbor into the basin, this to be carried on in connection with the execution of defensive works at the entrance of the harbor. When completed
it is intended that the largest transatlantic steamers will be able to leave the quay at any hour of the day or night.
This work is one which will require for its completion a great many millions of dollars, and yet it has been begun with the confident feeling that the resultant earnings will fully justify the outlay.

These foreign experiences have a value
to us at the present time when called upon to consider what we should do in Boston, not only to hold our own, but to gain more trade. It will not do to enter into work of this kind in a rash and half-informed manner. The experience of the city of Havre, where, as the United States consul tells us, eight years were spent in making careful scientific investigations before work was begun, is one which well deserves to be borne in mind by those enthusiasts who have already decided that one location
or the other in Boston harbor is above
all others the place best fitted to begin operations. If the experience of other cities is worth anything, it teaches us
that, if we are to have a great seaport, we must probably lay the foundations for our claim to modern commerce
by establishing a system of public docks.
But it is also evident that to do the work properly will involve an immense outlay of money, and one that the community is not justified in spending in the absence of the most thorough and exhaustive study of every detail connected with the question. If we are not prepared to take this cautious, slow but certain method of procedure, then we had better not begin at all, for the reason that a blind entrance into this work
cannot fail to be tremendously expensive,
and may be altogether futile, so far as concerns the attainment of the desired end.

WORK AT THE PARKER MEMORIAL.

The near approach of the end of the second season at the Parker Memorial,
which has been the utilization of a neglected property for the highest ends, is a favorable moment for mention of what has been done. Its public lectures during the winter have been an attractive feature, but its more important service has been among the working men and women at the South end. It has not attempted to be an institutional church,
and the religious side of the enterprise

AN INTERESTING COMPARISON.

It is interesting and instructive to compare an estimate made of the number of cattle, sheep and pigs in the United Kingdom June, 1894, and estimates of the same kind for the United States Jan. 1, 1895. These estimates were as follows:

	United Kingdom.	United States.
Cattle.....	10,780,736	51,982,203
Sheep.....	30,057,813	43,671,055
Pigs.....	3,754,093	44,686,107

It will be seen from the foregoing
that the number of sheep with us—
the one distinctly protected agricultural industry in the United States—makes a showing only a trifle larger than the sheep
exhibit of the little group of islands making up the United Kingdom. That is to say, the United Kingdom has about three-fourths as many sheep as are to be found in the United States. On the other hand, the United States has about five times as many cattle and twelve times as many pigs as are to be found in the United Kingdom.

We dare say that one reason for this exhibit is to be found in the better condition of the British stock.

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

A very snug office is that of the speaker of the British House of Commons, though it requires exceptional ability to fill it acceptably. The speaker's salary is $25,000 a year, with an official residence thrown in, and on retirement he is entitled to a peerage,
though this latter honor was declined
by the father of the present speaker, Sir Robert Peel, who also forbade his widow and heir to accept any such distinction.

The choice of a Governor whose father was Governor before him, as seems likely to be the case in Rhode Island, is a sufficiently rare event to make it interesting from the standpoint of heredity. There has been no such succession in Massachusetts, though the son of our great war Governor was a gubernatorial candidate a few years ago, and came very near being elected.

The women of Kansas have achieved another triumph. It has been decided that in registering for municipal elections women are not required to state
their exact ages, but will comply with the law by simply stating that they are over 21. It is calculated that this decision will result in a largely increased registration of women who are no younger than they should be.

We continue to get interesting news concerning the nobility of Great Britain. The eldest son of Lord Tweedmouth, one of the wealthiest peers of the realm, is about to marry Miss Birdie Sutherland of the variety stage, and another lord has just been convicted in the criminal courts of an assault on a servant girl.

M. Dreyfus' treason has cost the French government a good bit. In consequence of his having supplied Germany with the secrets of the French
plans of mobilization, the government has just spent more than $400,000 in changing all the essential features of the schemes for placing troops in case of war.

It seems to be Secretary Gresham's idea that it is the duty of the consular and diplomatic representatives of this country to keep their mouths shut unless officially directed to open them.
There's no doubt that international disputes are more easily settled by strict adherence to this rule.

The Journal advises the killing of some Republican fattened calves with a view to welcoming back the mug-wumps. It may reasonably be doubted, however, if the mugwumps are yearning for that sort of a feast just at present. They are very comfortable where they are.

With the grip epidemic London's death rate has gone up from the normal rate of 20 per 1000 to 35.5, which is something without precedent there, while Liverpool's rate is 55.5. In the proportion of old folk seems two or three to one.

A late looker-on at Monte Carlo

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

and that the police were investigating
the matter; they were not ready to
say whether it had been set or not.
Capt. Hoffman gave the following
facts in regard to the fire: Early this morning the janitor of the Alger school
discovered evidence about the sink that
a fire had occurred.

He discovered a number of waste
paper baskets half filled with burned
paper. Several half-burned matches
were found near the baskets and the woodwork around the sink was
scorched.

The janitor also discovered that the line of hose in the basement, and is
only to be used in case of fire, had
been detached from its position, and
the nozzle placed in the desk of one of
the teachers in the upper room.

The janitor immediately notified
Capt. Hoffman, and an officer was sent to the building to make a thorough examination.

The officer found several of the teachers in anything but a pleasant frame of mind, owing to the fact that when they entered their rooms this morning they
found that their desks had been broken
into and several small articles, such as
knives, pencils and pencil sharpeners
had been stolen. The contents of the desks were strewn about the floor.

In the room where the hose was
found the officer discovered several
claws that led him to believe that the
damage was the work of boys.

He made an examination of the windows in the basement. On the West
Seventh street side he discovered that
one of the iron gratings had been broken, and an opening large enough to admit the body of a boy made into the basement.

With this clue to work on the officer
made a visit to several of the tenement
houses which surround the school on West Seventh and Tudor streets. From one of the occupants he learned that a
crowd of boys were playing in the yard
of the school yesterday afternoon, and
secured a description of several of the boys.

One of the boys was located by the
officer and taken to station 6. He told
the captain that a number of boys who resided near West Seventh street were
in the yard yesterday afternoon, but
he did not see them go into the school
building.

The police are watching several of the boys who were in the crowd, and
several arrests are likely to be made
today or tomorrow.

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION.

Tory Press in Awkward Trying to Get out of
an Awkward Position.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald.)
MONTREAL, Que., March 11, 1895.

The Tory press is preparing a way for
its dominion government to get out of
its awkward dilemma regarding the Manitoba school question. Catching at
the bait thrown out by the leading Liberal organ of Toronto, the Globe, that
there should be no interference with provincial rights, the Mail and Empire of Toronto, the leading Tory paper in the dominion, and generally considered as
the mouthpiece of the cabinet, says:

"Immediately after the decision in the
Manitoba school question, the

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

and that the police were investigating
the matter; they were not ready to
say whether it had been set or not.
Capt. Hoffman gave the following
facts in regard to the fire: Early this
morning the janitor of the Alger school
discovered evidence about the sink that
a fire had occurred.

He discovered a number of waste
paper baskets half filled with burned
paper. Several half-burned matches
were found near the baskets and the
woodwork around the sink was
scorched.

The janitor also discovered that the
line of hose in the basement, and is
only to be used in case of fire, had
been detached from its position, and
the nozzle placed in the desk of one of
the teachers in the upper room.

The janitor immediately notified
Capt. Hoffman, and an officer was sent to the building to make a thorough examination.

The officer found several of the teachers in anything but a pleasant frame of
mind, owing to the fact that when they
entered their rooms this morning they
found that their desks had been broken
into and several small articles, such as
knives, pencils and pencil sharpeners
had been stolen. The contents of the desks were strewn about the floor.

In the room where the hose was
found the officer discovered several
claws that led him to believe that the
damage was the work of boys.

He made an examination of the windows in the basement. On the West
Seventh street side he discovered that
one of the iron gratings had been broken, and an opening large enough to admit the body of a boy made into the basement.

With this clue to work on the officer
made a visit to several of the tenement
houses which surround the school on West Seventh and Tudor streets. From
one of the occupants he learned that a
crowd of boys were playing in the yard
of the school yesterday afternoon, and
secured a description of several of the
boys.

One of the boys was located by the
officer and taken to station 6. He told
the captain that a number of boys who
resided near West Seventh street were
in the yard yesterday afternoon, but
he did not see them go into the school
building.

The police are watching several of
the boys who were in the crowd, and
several arrests are likely to be made
today or tomorrow.

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION.

Tory Press in Awkward Trying to Get out of
an Awkward Position.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald.)
MONTREAL, Que., March 11, 1895.

The Tory press is preparing a way for
its dominion government to get out of
its awkward dilemma regarding the Manitoba school question. Catching at
the bait thrown out by the leading Liberal organ of Toronto, the Globe, that
there should be no interference with provincial rights, the Mail and Empire of Toronto, the leading Tory paper in the
dominion, and generally considered as
the mouthpiece of the cabinet, says:

"Immediately after the decision in the
Manitoba school question, the

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

and that the police were investigating
the matter; they were not ready to
say whether it had been set or not.
Capt. Hoffman gave the following
facts in regard to the fire: Early this
morning the janitor of the Alger school
discovered evidence about the sink that
a fire had occurred.

He discovered a number of waste
paper baskets half filled with burned
paper. Several half-burned matches
were found near the baskets and the
woodwork around the sink was
scorched.

The janitor also discovered that the
line of hose in the basement, and is
only to be used in case of fire, had
been detached from its position, and
the nozzle placed in the desk of one of
the teachers in the upper room.

The janitor immediately notified
Capt. Hoffman, and an officer was sent to the building to make a thorough examination.

The officer found several of the teachers in anything but a pleasant frame of
mind, owing to the fact that when they
entered their rooms this morning they
found that their desks had been broken
into and several small articles, such as
knives, pencils and pencil sharpeners
had been stolen. The contents of the desks were strewn about the floor.

In the room where the hose was
found the officer discovered several
claws that led him to believe that the
damage was the work of boys.

He made an examination of the windows in the basement. On the West
Seventh street side he discovered that
one of the iron gratings had been broken, and an opening large enough to admit the body of a boy made into the basement.

With this clue to work on the officer
made a visit to several of the tenement
houses which surround the school on West Seventh and Tudor streets. From
one of the occupants he learned that a
crowd of boys were playing in the yard
of the school yesterday afternoon, and
secured a description of several of the
boys.

One of the boys was located by the
officer and taken to station 6. He told
the captain that a number of boys who
resided near West Seventh street were
in the yard yesterday afternoon, but
he did not see them go into the school
building.

The police are watching several of
the boys who were in the crowd, and
several arrests are likely to be made
today or tomorrow.

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION.

Tory Press in Awkward Trying to Get out of
an Awkward Position.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald.)
MONTREAL, Que., March 11, 1895.

The Tory press is preparing a way for
its dominion government to get out of
its awkward dilemma regarding the Manitoba school question. Catching at
the bait thrown out by the leading Liberal organ of Toronto, the Globe, that
there should be no interference with provincial rights, the Mail and Empire of Toronto, the leading Tory paper in the
dominion, and generally considered as
the mouthpiece of the cabinet, says:

"Immediately after the decision in the
Manitoba school question, the

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

and that the police were investigating
the matter; they were not ready to
say whether it had been set or not.
Capt. Hoffman gave the following
facts in regard to the fire: Early this
morning the janitor of the Alger school
discovered evidence about the sink that
a fire had occurred.

He discovered a number of waste
paper baskets half filled with burned
paper. Several half-burned matches
were found near the baskets and the
woodwork around the sink was
scorched.

The janitor also discovered that the
line of hose in the basement, and is
only to be used in case of fire, had
been detached from its position, and
the nozzle placed in the desk of one of
the teachers in the upper room.

The janitor immediately notified
Capt. Hoffman, and an officer was sent to the building to make a thorough examination.

The officer found several of the teachers in anything but a pleasant frame of
mind, owing to the fact that when they
entered their rooms this morning they
found that their desks had been broken
into and several small articles, such as
knives, pencils and pencil sharpeners
had been stolen. The contents of the
desks were strewn about the floor.

In the room where the hose was
found the officer discovered several
claws that led him to believe that the
damage was the work of boys.

He made an examination of the windows in the basement. On the West
Seventh street side he discovered that
one of the iron gratings had been broken, and an opening large enough to admit the body of a boy made into the basement.

With this clue to work on the officer
made a visit to several of the tenement
houses which surround the school on West Seventh and Tudor streets. From
one of the occupants he learned that a
crowd of boys were playing in the yard
of the school yesterday afternoon, and
secured a description of several of the
boys.

One of the boys was located by the
officer and taken to station 6. He told
the captain that a number of boys who
resided near West Seventh street were
in the yard yesterday afternoon, but
he did not see them go into the school
building.

The police are watching several of
the boys who were in the crowd, and
several arrests are likely to be made
today or tomorrow.

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION.

Tory Press in Awkward Trying to Get out of
an Awkward Position.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald.)
MONTREAL, Que., March 11, 1895.

The Tory press is preparing a way for
its dominion government to get out of
its awkward dilemma regarding the Manitoba school question. Catching at
the bait thrown out by the leading Liberal organ of Toronto, the Globe, that
there should be no interference with provincial rights, the Mail and Empire of Toronto, the leading Tory paper in the
dominion, and generally considered as
the mouthpiece of the cabinet, says:

"Immediately after the decision in the
Manitoba school question, the

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

By the way, the library is not meant

Cobb, Aldrich & Co., grocers, said: "Our experience with The Boston Herald has convinced us that it is an especially good medium for our class of business. It can be relied upon to reach a large portion of the community and to bring good results."

H. A. Hartley & Co., carpets, 95 to 105 Washington St., said: "The Boston Herald is a No. 1 advertising medium. We have found good results every time we have advertised in it, and when we advertise at all we never leave out The Herald. Whether we present our carpets, draperies or window shades we find that it brings the same good results."

Browne, Horton & Co., furniture, 876 Washington St., said: "There is only one opinion in regard to The Boston Herald, and that is that it is one of the best, if not the best, advertising mediums for the general retail advertiser. We have advertised in The Herald for about twenty years, and if we did not consider the results satisfactory we would not have continued to use its columns."

Albert L. Pope, manager of the Pope Manufacturing Co., at 221 Columbus Av., said: "We recognize the value of The Boston Herald as an advertising medium, and use its columns every week—this we think is the best evidence of our appreciation."

RESPECTED NOT THE ALTAR.

Thieves and Vandals in the Cathedral at Providence.

Tabernacles Forced Open and Sacred Articles Removed Ready to Be Taken Away, When the Marauders Were Evidently Frightened Before Completing Their Work.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 11, 1895. One of the boldest, and certainly most dastardly of the long string of burglaries committed in this city since last fall was discovered at St. Peter and Paul's Cathedral early this morning. It is evident that the marauders intended to make a clean sweep from the basement to the very altar.

The thieves entered the cathedral by the door leading to the furnace room, using a skeleton key. From the vestry they took a candlestick that had been used in baptismal service Sunday afternoon and entered an apartment under the main altar, where they pried open desks and drawers and broke into a box that had held contributions for St. Joseph's Hospital, but which had been emptied last night.

A skeleton key let them into the room, where they pried open a desk and found the key to an old safe. From the latter they took $25 belonging to the hospital fund and $25 that had been collected for the service of the communion.

Before attacking the big safe they gave their attention to the altars, the tabernacles of which would be easy marks for them and sure to result in rich hauls.

TO HUNT FOR SCARLET FEVER.

Schools of Woburn to Be Disrupted and Thoroughly Inspected.

The Woburn board of health will make an examination of the school children of the city in an effort to ascertain if there are any cases of scarlet fever among the pupils.

The schools have been divided into three districts, and physicians will at once make the tests.

Dr. Bixby will examine the northeast district, Drs. Graves and Chase have been engaged to look after the rest of the district, which they will then divide. The parochial school will be under the eye of City Physician Conway.

The sanitary conditions of the school-houses will also be looked after.

BANGORS BASE BALL TEAM.

(Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald.) BANGOR, Me., March 11, 1895. The Bangor team of the New England League is very nearly completed. It is expected that the players will begin the season with something like the following arrangement: Hayes, c.; Wheeler, p.; McCaughy, D. O'Brien, D.; Moore, D.; Haywood, 3b.; Whell, s. s.; Nevers, f. f.; Deady, c. f., and a new player whose name is not yet announced for left field and catcher.

Houseman of Cambridge, Mass., a pitcher, and several others will be given trials in the preliminary games. Manager Sharrott probably will voluntarily "warn the bench" during the week-end out of consideration and will afterward take the position which he deems it best to occupy.

Hayward is a member of the Staten Island Cricket Club, and a fine ball player. Whell, who played on the champion Joliet (Ill.) team of 1892, has not been selected yet, but it is expected that he will be.

ELECTRIC SMASHES A HACK.

An electric car struck a hack on Bridge street, Salem, last night, smashing it pretty badly.

immemorial by the presence of many celebrities. It was not strange that on the homeward way the clever American artist in black and white and his companions should drop in at Du Maurier's house—the ideal English home of suburban London. Dark had fallen, and afternoon tea was being dispensed in the drawing room that bore every appearance of being lived in. The cheery lights, and still more welcome open fire, sent their glow over the sketches and water colors on the walls, the contrived, diamond-shaped easements, with their decorative flower pots, and the numerous evidences of the cup that cheers every true Englishman and English woman. At 5 P. M. a sister of Frank Burnard, the editor of Punch, and the most Parisian of contemporaries (Londoners), who, in her white lace cap, the typical English mother of a family.

There was about this pleasant house a great deal of movement, such as is only found where there are numerous enthusiastic young people, all talking at once, and Du Maurier himself, who has become by his satire of the years before and the creation of aesthetic and Post-Impressionist, seemed to be face himself a little, clever man though he was, in face of this tremendous influx of youth and gaiety. One of his daughters had recently been married, and came in—charmingly pre-ty, and rosy with happiness—with her devoted young husband, to make her first call.

Du Maurier, tall, slender, and with his pale face and distinguished air, so foreign in appearance as to occasion a little surprise that he was so fluent a master of English, had himself rather an air of exhausted vitality, and gave the impression of a man who was overworked. Yet, like most gifted men, his manners were simple in their cordiality. "Light whatever," present or prospective, on "Trilby," yet unborn, even in the prophetic soul of its now famous author, it is used to be a belief of a newspaper editor that every man "had a newspaper article in him." On the same principle, Du Maurier was big at that moment with the embryo heroine of his next work.

So, recalling what Du Maurier was in that early winter evening years ago in his pleasant villa, near Hampstead Heath (where the air is supposed to be purer and more invigorating than in London)—a clever, even a brilliant man, but heavy with responsibilities; a short, a well-paid drudge—and what he is now, the distinguished author of the novel of the day—another "Thackeray," to whom his American publishers, with a generosity that does not characterize their race, now pay a percentage over and above the too little speculative author's "certainty"—and contrasting with the black and white sketching of "Abney" (a "Little Billie") of "Ned Abbey," the painter of that magnificent mural series, "The quest of the Holy Grail," the present writer is moved to marvel at the unexpected and once more subscribe to the honorable axiom that wonders are worked by Time.

Beside the Public Library semi-series of decorations, Abbey has on exhibition in the American art galleries a charming collection of pastels in his characteristic manner, including scenes from "The Good-Natured Man," and two charming pictures, "Fammet's Song," which suggests, with copying, Alma Tadema—and "A May Day Morning," in which a scene in a garden, with the figures of a coquette and her admirer seems to radiate spring and life, so light and skilful is the touch, so radiant the coloring. There is a wholesome English quality about this work, to which is appended the couplet:

Come, my Corinna, come, and come,
How each street turns a lane, each lane a path!

of life would take much relief.—MR. 224 Grand Street, Jc

ESTABLISHED
The operatic song birds' friend and preserver, the impresario's right-hand man, Dr. Hobbrook Curtis, is awaiting the return on his hands, not only of certain lyric artists, but of Mrs. Potter, who is suffering so severely from tonsillitis that every word she utters is said to cause her a severe attack. Mrs. Potter, after resting a few days in bed, is in condition to appear in person prior to beginning a three weeks' engagement on the 25th inst. Square Theatre on the 25th inst. This ambitious woman has gone far, indeed, of late, and her Charlotte Corday is one of the artistic sensations of the season, her labor much longer to repose. This trait, conspicuous as long ago as she played "Theresia Raquin" at the Friton Square Theatre, is so in accord with her assumption of Charlotte Corday that she could, if she chose, appeal to the tribunal of a Paris audience without fear of the result, since if one may judge from the purity of her pronunciation of the French words in this play—she probably speaks a better language, it is easily within the power of this now accomplished American actress—who is, after all, a daughter of New Orleans—to play Charlotte Corday in French to a French audience.

NEW PUBLICATION
"Everything for Fair"
Joseph B. ...
We want free to ...
47 to 54 North M ...
We want free to ...
per a 25c package

NEW PUBLICATION
HOUGHTON, I ...
NEW ...
As Others ...
A Retrospect ...
A book of remark ...
show how the Jews ...
cially the ruling class ...
words and works of ...
written at Alexandria ...
after the Crucifixion ...
the Jerusalem ... has to death. The ...
the perfectly re ...
the literary ob ...
profound interest.

BABY HUMORS
Instantly Relieved
And Speedily Cured by Citricura
Miss Bag ...

THE CITY.

1, 50,000 pounds haddock; J. H. Carey, 70,000 pounds fresh mixed fish (two men); Harry F. French, Bar-

S OLDEST MAN IN PROVINCETOWN.
(Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald.)

The New York Central, the Lackawanna and the West

and that the Nicholson local opposition, which has been so bitterly for weeks, did not reach the

l puts a gigantic evil in quarantine, if thought best it can be created there.

Long List of Important Committee Reports

In the House this afternoon, the committee on finance reported in favor of a bill to resolve for building a new stock barn at the Lyman school for boys; the same committee reported a resolve appropriating, in addition to the sums already authorized, the sum of $34,000 for care and custody of the State House.

The committee on probate and insolvency reported ought to pass on a bill permitting citations on accounts in probate courts; to be issued by the register of probate. The same committee reported a bill providing that suits by or against assignees in insolvency must be begun within two years from the time when the same might have been brought.

The committee on rules reported recommending suspension of the rules to admit a resolve providing for painting the repair of the committee to prepare a history of the codfish and other proceedings on the occasion of the transfer of that relic from the old State House to the new, also a similar report on the resolve for painting the codfish and suspending it in the new house of representatives.

Other committee reports were: Election laws—Ought not to pass, on a bill to simplify voting by providing that names of party candidates shall be placed in separate columns, etc.

Charter—Ought not to pass, on the bill authorizing the city of Chelsea to have a tax rate of $18; this bill was recommended.

Constitutional amendments—Leave to withdraw, on the petition of S. D. Charles that the speaker of the House and president of the Senate be chosen by the people.

Military affairs—A bill reimbursing the city of Fitchburg for armory rent paid in 1888.

Water supply—Leave to withdraw on the petition of the town of Ashland to be reimbursed by the city of Boston for damages occasioned by the extension of Boston water works.

State house—Ought not to pass on the bill of Representative Hayes of Lowell providing for one State House construction commissioner in place of three.

Street railways—Leave to withdraw on the petition of the county commissioners of Plymouth county that street railway companies pay part of the cost of altering grades of highways, made necessary by the location of such railways.

Labor—Leave to withdraw on petition of J. M. Berry for home building associations. Also ought not to pass on the bill providing that employees may be required to work overtime to make up for time lost by accidental stoppages of machinery.

Education—Ought not to pass on the bill of Representative Keenan of Boston for the State university for the city of Boston, to leave to withdraw on the petition of W. D. Bliss for a system of ethical culture in the public schools.

Railroads—Leave to withdraw on the petition that the Boston & Albany and Boston & Maine railroad companies be required to construct a foot bridge at Summer street, East Boston.

An order offered by Mr. Myers of Cambridge was adopted, providing that on and after Wednesday, March 13, the House meet at 1:30, except on Fridays, when it shall meet at 11:30.

The several House committees were given until March 20 to make reports.

The resolve providing for the appointment of a commissioner to examine into the condition of the Bullfinch front of the old State House was passed to be engrossed.

NOT SICK UNKNOWN

but a little out of would serve in have them on hand.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

In the Senate the following committee reports were received.

Election laws. A bill permitting the counting of ballots while voting is in progress.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THAT QUINCY CHURCH LAND.

The boundary line question of the property of the First Church of Quincy, which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF QUINCY.

Which has been in dispute for a number of years, was brought before the committee on taxation.

Mr. Mead spent five years in Europe, mostly in study at Oxford, Cambridge, and Leipzig. He also lived a year in London, working in the British Museum. It was at Cambridge that he formed one of the dearest and most notable of friendships with a young Englishman—a friendship that has resulted in a strong network of friends on both sides of the Atlantic, actuated in common by a deep and lofty impulse towards the industrial regeneration, the social and moral improvement, and the betterment of what is best in human nature. It was this friendship which brought William Clarke twice to this side of the Atlantic, visits which though brief and without the usual pomp and circumstance will be repeated often. Mr. Mead, in his review of Clarke's admirable work on Walt Whitman, in his "Editor's Table" in the New England Magazine, gives a charming account of their friendship in its early days—an account which presents a beautiful picture of that time at Cambridge.

Mr. Mead's literary activity began a notable side of his work while still in Europe, when he contributed to American magazines various articles in the English broad churchmen. He edited a collection of Story's sermons, under the title "Faith and Freedom," and in the year he published his first book, "Philosophy of Carlyle," "Martin Luther: A Study of the Reformation," etc. Published in 1884.

Prominent as Mr. Mead has been in literary work in various ways, he was regarded vocal, rather than written, speech as his most natural medium of intellectual expression, and he has charge in religious belief which he simply transferred tion with this association was brought into close connection with William T. Harris, of education, and the late Charles C. Stiles, commissioner of education. He feels that the influence of Dr. Harris has been one of the strongest of factors in shaping his own character.

He has also been one of the most active members of the Free Religious Association, and has taken a leading part in organizing the lecture courses in connection with the annual anniversary celebration of liberal thought in Boston. In the organization of the work, together with that of the Free Religious Association, the Free Church of South and the Society for the Extension of Good Citizenship, he has a strong sagacious sense of the need of a new social order, and a strongly sagacious sense of the need in which the best contemporary thought may meet the movement.

u his sharp toward
a growth of human society as an ism which he feels must with the cial consciousness of man and possiended to its own needs and more i-
as it now is—no more and more i-gent and self-directed, rather than conscious and automatic, or arbitshaped and largely perceived by vidual willfulness as in the past.

It is to this end that he has di-
his various activities: his prom-
of educational reforms as distill-fit the individual for responsible benish in a higher order of solidi-benish; his deep interest in history
for any pleasure in musty research,
the accumulation of dry facts, but the sake of presenting the vital
of past experience in a manner that friendship and in the application of the teachings of history to the needs of the present. Mr. Mead has followed Hale's footsteps. Writing on the "X" stage of Puritanism," he says: "The only real use in going back to the Puritan fathers is to be helped by it to go forward and away from them, to get out of the past or, rather that it is to be helped more vitally into the present. It is to catch the spirit for the time that was in them for their time to be made like them 'men of presentness,' dwelling practically and stalwartly with the new occasion and new duty today, instead of with the things of yesterday."

"Speaking" of Miss Carvan, the other day, an actor now in Boston remarked that it was a pity "Sens-Genie" could not have been secured for her. That remark has not been uttered by the American public since the "Boulevard," which has no rights to "Sens-Genie," which has not been told yet. Before the play was produced in Paris the American rights were bought by him of the biggest speculative house in this country. They know nothing about the tenor of the play. The "hall-mark" of "Sensdieu" was what they purchased. When the Paris production

In Paris, Miss Cayvan has studied. London she will see plays. But what she will do in America is as much as she will do in Paris. It was the day she

...on would permit

THE Home
H.
GREAT
NEW Paints
Br

...the line
...the Pacific
...the Farm-
...of New
...bonds in this
...is was done,
...the United
...city, and
...He said:
...quires trust
...000 with the
...to do
...in terms, but
...companies de-
...to con-
...the ob-
...closure will
...the Farm-
...of New
...inments of
...e trust in-
...valid.
...hat I want
...in the case
...e, Trust &
...s a foreign
...ness in Illi-
...has never
...th the au-
...e corpora-
...to a suit
...ites it has
...of bonds of
...it has not
...I in-
...orporation
...c case if
...k for the
...e Trust &
...case has
...ing on the
...a Trust
...gas com-
...e easily be
...board of
...mending
...ed to 60
...taken
...et.
...the Cam-
...or more,
...numerous
...money
...eople of

NORTHERN MUTUAL RELIEF.
A meeting of the signers for charter to organize a new branch of the Northern Mutual Relief Association will be held at Odd Fellows' Hall, Mt. Bowdoin, Dorchester, Saturday evening, March 16, for the purpose of effecting a temporary organization.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE.
Cabot lodge of Boston observed its first anniversary, March 6, by a ball, at which 250 couples were present.
The lodges of the Sons of St. George in the Boston district have appointed a committee to arrange for the celebration of St. George's day, April 23. The lodges in the district will, as part of the celebration, attend St. Paul's Church in a body, April 21.

S. D. M. P.
At the regular meeting of Trine assembly, Sons and Daughters of the Maritime Provinces at Commercial Hall, March 6, several new members were initiated. March 20 Mr. P. J. Chisholm will read a paper on Colchese county, N. S., and Hon. A. R. Dickey, secretary of state for Canada, who will be in town at that time, is expected to be present.

CADETS OF TEMPERANCE.
Milzaph section initiated 13 members at the last meeting. The prize badge for members will belong to Frank Hunt. The plaque painted by Frank Campbell was won by George Dill of Powderhorn section.
Neal Dow gave an entertainment at last meeting. The play "Sugar and Cream" was given, under the direction of Joseph Gould.
Mayflower is initiating at every meeting.
Three new sections are soon to be organized.
Volunteer section has three candidates to initiate.

UNITED FELLOWSHIP.
Beacon Hill council will initiate three new members and install officers March 12. The grand officers will be present.
S'-preme Representatives Gregory and Rice of Maine will attend the next meeting of Harmony council. Sister councils are invited to be present. It is expected that five new members will be initiated.
The committee on reunion and banquet will meet Monday evening, March 11. The annual session of the supreme council will be held Wednesday, March 20 at 10 A. M. at 26 Union Park street.

FRATERNAL HELPERS.
Concord lodge of Lowell initiated one candidate and received one application March 4. It is expected the degree staff will soon work the degree in Boston.
Athens lodge of Roxbury received one application March 3. G. G. I. O. Trefry made the address an official visit.
Bay State lodge of Merrimack will initiate its candidates March 13.
Mystic lodge of Lowell had three applications and held a whist party March 6.
Calumet lodge of Roxbury initiated 13 candidates March 4.
Columbian lodge of Lynn will receive a visit from G. G. I. O. Trefry March 13. This lodge is making a determined effort to gain the prize banner.

SUNK ON ROMER SHOALS.
SANDY HOOK, March 12, 1895. The tug F. W. Vosburg, which left New York last night with a garbage scow in tow, ran on the Romer shoals about 2 o'clock this morning and sank shortly afterward. No lives were lost.

BEVERLY'S NEW OFFICERS.
Beverly's city council met in joint convention last evening and selected the

DIRECTORS ELECTED.
The annual meeting of the Beverly Co-operative Bank was held last evening at the board of trade rooms. The following were elected directors: Sidney W. Winslow, Edmund Giles, George Butman, E. M. Boies, H. O. Woodbury, Charles F. Lee, Luther Woodbury, John H. Girdler, Samuel Cole, John A. Moulton, George P. Brown, George F. Standley, George C. Stearns, Horace W. Woodbury, John Prince, auditors, John F. Hill, Frank K. Wyman, Allen H. Bennett, secretary, Harrie Ober, treasurer, Charles F. Lee. The treasurer's report showed the number of shares to be 200; number of members, 408; earnings of the bank last year, $111.77; amount loaned on real estate, $10,000; total assets, $18,777.11.

PRESENTED WITH A REVOLVER.
(Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald.)
WHITMAN, March 12, 1895. Night Watchman 100, at the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad station, has been presented with a revolver.

BEVERLY'S CITY COUNCIL.
Beverly's city council met in joint convention last evening and selected the

DEATH OF A CONSOLIDATED EMPLOYEE WHOSE SERVICES WERE APPRECIATED.
James Garrity, a section foreman on the Consolidated road, died at his home on Railroad avenue, Bridgeport, last evening, after a brief illness, of pneumonia.
Mr. Garrity was employed on the road as a common laborer until about eight years ago, when the Housatonic road, with a gang of Italians, at midnight attempted to tear up the Consolidated road's tracks near the elevator there. (Garrity heard of the movement, and, notifying conductor Andrew Canfield, they hastened to the freight yard in Bridgeport, procured an engine and several freight cars and ran them on to the tracks. This delayed the Italians

RECEIVER WALKER OF THE SANTA FE ON THE FUTURE OF WESTERN ROADS.
Receiver Aldace F. Walker of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, in discussing the situation of the western roads, says:
"The coming of spring does not bring any great encouragement in the outlook for the western roads. One remarkable fact is that sections of the western roads which have heretofore been a source of expense to their systems are the only ones that are earning money at present. This is due, however, to the improvement of business and good crops in the sections in which they centre. This is true of certain sections of the Santa Fe system in Texas, where the crops have been better than heretofore. The western receivers of the Santa Fe feel that the work of New York reorganization is progressing rapidly in the East, and the plan will meet the approval of those in the West."
The movement of grain by the western roads centring in Chicago, for the week decreased 831,000 bushels from the previous week, and 2,613,000 bushels from last year. The movement of grain at the same point over western roads during February was 707 cars less than during February of 1894, and 1,882 cars less than during February of 1893. The four granger roads lost 784 cars, as compared with February last year. The Northwestern made the poorest showing, with a reduction of 263 cars. The St. Paul was second, with 1930 cars. The Burlington third, with 1707 cars, and the Rock Island fourth, with 1548 cars. The important feature was the gain of 581 cars by the Alton, 487 cars by the East-ern Illinois and 222 cars by the Wabash.

GARRITY'S LOYALTY.
A grant of 200,000 acres was made by the government in 1886 to the state of Michigan for the benefit of the Portage Lake & Lake Superior Ship Canal Company, now owned by the Wakena, limited, a corporation. The amount called for in the grant was patented to the company.
(Certain persons desired to file Porterfield scrip upon some of these lands, and their applications being refused, the secretary of the interior was petitioned to recommend that suit be brought to set aside the alleged erroneous certification of 68,000 acres of these lands. The commissioner of the general land office recommended that such suit be brought. The principal point in the petition was that the lands ad-

RECEIVER WALKER OF THE SANTA FE ON THE FUTURE OF WESTERN ROADS.
Receiver Aldace F. Walker of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, in discussing the situation of the western roads, says:
"The coming of spring does not bring any great encouragement in the outlook for the western roads. One remarkable fact is that sections of the western roads which have heretofore been a source of expense to their systems are the only ones that are earning money at present. This is due, however, to the improvement of business and good crops in the sections in which they centre. This is true of certain sections of the Santa Fe system in Texas, where the crops have been better than heretofore. The western receivers of the Santa Fe feel that the work of New York reorganization is progressing rapidly in the East, and the plan will meet the approval of those in the West."
The movement of grain by the western roads centring in Chicago, for the week decreased 831,000 bushels from the previous week, and 2,613,000 bushels from last year. The movement of grain at the same point over western roads during February was 707 cars less than during February of 1894, and 1,882 cars less than during February of 1893. The four granger roads lost 784 cars, as compared with February last year. The Northwestern made the poorest showing, with a reduction of 263 cars. The St. Paul was second, with 1930 cars. The Burlington third, with 1707 cars, and the Rock Island fourth, with 1548 cars. The important feature was the gain of 581 cars by the Alton, 487 cars by the East-ern Illinois and 222 cars by the Wabash.

GARRITY'S LOYALTY.
A grant of 200,000 acres was made by the government in 1886 to the state of Michigan for the benefit of the Portage Lake & Lake Superior Ship Canal Company, now owned by the Wakena, limited, a corporation. The amount called for in the grant was patented to the company.
(Certain persons desired to file Porterfield scrip upon some of these lands, and their applications being refused, the secretary of the interior was petitioned to recommend that suit be brought to set aside the alleged erroneous certification of 68,000 acres of these lands. The commissioner of the general land office recommended that such suit be brought. The principal point in the petition was that the lands ad-

RECEIVED FOR 99 YEARS.
Now Mrs. Jones Alleges Undue Influence and Asks That Lease Be Set Aside.
In the supreme court, today, before Judge Knowlton, the suit in equity brought by Edward J. Jenkins, guardian of Georgianna Jones, against Erskine H. Kelly, was taken up.
The bill seeks to set aside as void a lease for 99 years of the property 41 Walnut park, which is valued at $10,000. The lease was executed by Mrs. Jones on Oct. 23, 1894, under seal, and began on Nov. 1, 1894.
It is alleged that the lease was obtained from her by the alleged undue influence of the defendant, who got her intoxicated.
Mrs. Jones is a woman about 55 years of age. Her first husband died about 15 years ago, leaving her considerable property in trust. About five years ago she married a man by the name of Jones, against whom she has brought a libel for divorce.
She was afraid that her husband would enter her home while the divorce proceedings were pending, and some friends introduced the defendant to her. After an acquaintance of only three days the lease was executed to him. Plaintiff claims that a lease of the property was to have been made only for a time to cover the divorce proceedings, and after it was discovered that the lease was for a period of 99 years, she herself brought this suit, which later on was prosecuted by Mr. Jenkins, who was appointed guardian of her by the probate court.
The defendant denies that he gave Mrs. Jones any liquor with a view to the execution of the lease. He asserts that the lease was made voluntarily by Mrs. Jones. P. J. Casey and E. J. Jenkins appear for the plaintiff; J. T. Whitten, for the defendant.
The first witness, Dr. John D. Judge, testified that he has attended Mrs. Jones for nervous trouble since September, 1894. He said she was troubled with hallucinations, and has been unfit to transact business, about Nov. 1, 1894, she was drinking, as he noticed her in a dazed condition.

LAND WORTH MILLIONS.
The expenses in detail supplied by the grand council of the Grand Commandery, No. 1, of the Grand Order of the United American Mechanics, $434.41; mileage, $316.10; salaries, $1540; postage, $47.50; stationery, $15.00; printing, $115.42.
Brief reports were given by committees on returns, state of order and trust, vision, and grand trust, without discussion.
The report of a committee was referred to a committee, composed of the grand council, F. H. Brown, C. N. Harlow of Northampton, and the recommendation of the grand commander related to medical examinations were referred to a committee. It was voted to require the council to restore the $5000 to the grand commander.
Supreme Commander, Supreme Secretary and Grand Commander, received with honors and dresses.
The decisions of the grand council were referred to the grand council.
The hour of election was 6 o'clock.
At 12:30 the grand council for dinner.

RECEIVED FOR 99 YEARS.
Now Mrs. Jones Alleges Undue Influence and Asks That Lease Be Set Aside.
In the supreme court, today, before Judge Knowlton, the suit in equity brought by Edward J. Jenkins, guardian of Georgianna Jones, against Erskine H. Kelly, was taken up.
The bill seeks to set aside as void a lease for 99 years of the property 41 Walnut park, which is valued at $10,000. The lease was executed by Mrs. Jones on Oct. 23, 1894, under seal, and began on Nov. 1, 1894.
It is alleged that the lease was obtained from her by the alleged undue influence of the defendant, who got her intoxicated.
Mrs. Jones is a woman about 55 years of age. Her first husband died about 15 years ago, leaving her considerable property in trust. About five years ago she married a man by the name of Jones, against whom she has brought a libel for divorce.
She was afraid that her husband would enter her home while the divorce proceedings were pending, and some friends introduced the defendant to her. After an acquaintance of only three days the lease was executed to him. Plaintiff claims that a lease of the property was to have been made only for a time to cover the divorce proceedings, and after it was discovered that the lease was for a period of 99 years, she herself brought this suit, which later on was prosecuted by Mr. Jenkins, who was appointed guardian of her by the probate court.
The defendant denies that he gave Mrs. Jones any liquor with a view to the execution of the lease. He asserts that the lease was made voluntarily by Mrs. Jones. P. J. Casey and E. J. Jenkins appear for the plaintiff; J. T. Whitten, for the defendant.
The first witness, Dr. John D. Judge, testified that he has attended Mrs. Jones for nervous trouble since September, 1894. He said she was troubled with hallucinations, and has been unfit to transact business, about Nov. 1, 1894, she was drinking, as he noticed her in a dazed condition.

LAND WORTH MILLIONS.
The expenses in detail supplied by the grand council of the Grand Commandery, No. 1, of the Grand Order of the United American Mechanics, $434.41; mileage, $316.10; salaries, $1540; postage, $47.50; stationery, $15.00; printing, $115.42.
Brief reports were given by committees on returns, state of order and trust, vision, and grand trust, without discussion.
The report of a committee was referred to a committee, composed of the grand council, F. H. Brown, C. N. Harlow of Northampton, and the recommendation of the grand commander related to medical examinations were referred to a committee. It was voted to require the council to restore the $5000 to the grand commander.
Supreme Commander, Supreme Secretary and Grand Commander, received with honors and dresses.
The decisions of the grand council were referred to the grand council.
The hour of election was 6 o'clock.
At 12:30 the grand council for dinner.

During the past
mander, and 97
In addition, there
its by Grand Vice Grand Secretary
Grand Commander
Wakena.
Reports from com
bership of 1893, a
sets and 22 in th
England states, th
has been slightly
the membership th
order.
The number of m
tificates for 1900 a duced from $300 a duction in our insur
ward of $700,000.
The decrease in show that the ord
time is passing, wh
elected charge, wh
be a benefit.
The attendance in Improved; in non-increased. Conside
versal.
The principal ob
been the continuanc
lack of profitable e
the working class
the assessments ha
called for.
The grand comm
That the supreme
structed session of coming session to such assessments
as will afford a assessments and
of one assessment
are now needed, an
to elect their med selection to be with medical examiner-
preme commander.
Grand Secretary S
of Jamaica Plain re
cils instituted dur
become defunct lea
good standing Jan. 1
The membership st
lows: Membership
152; transferred, 1
132; withdrawn, 1
died, 88; members, 1
cluding 15 honorary 4320; females, 1013
during 1894, 21 me
paid to beneficiaries
bers, $202,000; paid
ters, $588.54.
There are 4706 mem
sets, 275 in Maine, 1
shire, 83 in Vermont Island.
Grand Treasurer (Ch
of Boston reports: B
port, $737.68; receiv
ments, $438.71; balan
$306.89.
The expenses in de
dinate council suppl
Grand commanders,
Gratuities, $434.41; m
$316.10; salaries, $1540
$47.50; postage, $115
$15.00; printing, $115
$115.42.
Brief reports were g
committees on returns
state of order and tru
vision, and grand tru
ed without discussio
The report of a com
was referred to a co
bution, composed of Poston, F. H. Brown
C. N. Harlow of Nort
Upon the recommend grand commander relat
of assessments, w
medical examinations
It was voted to requ council to restore the
to the grand comman
Supreme Commander
Supreme Secretary
Grand Commander, r
ceived with honors a dresses.
The decisions of the
were referred to the
The hour of election o'clock.
At 12:30 the grand
for dinner.

Best.

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

3 9999 09285 5327

